DESCRIPTION

L'Isle-Adam — Exceptional 365 m<sup>2</sup> mansion with 3,500 m<sup>2</sup> grounds
Situated in the heart of L'Isle-Adam, widely regarded as one of France's most pleasant towns, this exceptional character property dating from 1850 occupies a prestigious island position on the banks of the River Oise, under an hour by direct train from Paris Gare du Nord.

A little history

The house stands on the Île de la Cohue, the smallest of the three islands of the Oise, alongside the Île du Prieuré and the Île de la Dérivation. Its name recalls the crowds who gathered to attend festivities on its banks under the Ancien Régime. The property was originally the bridgmaster's house, belonging to the leaders of the Compagnons de l'Arche, who were responsible for hauling vessels through this particularly challenging stretch of the river. Immediately adjacent stands the Pont Cabouillet, a listed historical monument dating from the sixteenth century.

Fully restored to the highest standard, this luminous 12-room property offers 365 m<sup>2</sup> of living space across three floors, set within 3,500 m<sup>2</sup> of private grounds, with an outbuilding, an independent garage and direct access to the river.

This lower level, opening directly onto the park and terrace, features marble floors throughout. It comprises a vast 97.86 m<sup>2</sup> reception room with summer kitchen, ideally suited to entertaining and hosting gatherings. This self-contained and convivial space allows younger generations...
