DESCRIPTION

Built in 1730, this superb six-storey building of about 195m² has had several reincarnations. Originally constructed as a "Deux Clefs" apartment building, each floor comprised one apartment with two rooms - one at the front of the building, the other at the back. Both rooms would need a key, because to access either room, you had to cross a communal landing next to the building's central staircase.

Christian Astuguevieille registered the property as commercial premises and used the rooms as workshops/studios and a gallery. Luxurious home comforts were added, such as a kitchen, a utility room, a vast shower room and a dressing room with exquisite made-to-measure furniture (which is included in the sale).

The current owners re-registered the whole building for residential use when they bought it in 2021, but the new owner should have no difficulty in re-registering all or part of it for business purposes.

This stunning townhouse is completely adapted to modern living, although the traditional 18th-century architectural features remain and have been lovingly restored... a colombage façade, exposed wooden beams, fabulous wooden floorboards made from the decks of pirate ships and t...
